

Trapped indoors.

In the garden seeing the night sky glistening,
I was watching Herbie while the wind was whistling,
My face was buried in fluffy, soft covers,
In the mysterious, luminous light a bug hovers.

As my dad went to the shops, the stark white shelves were wiped,
Everyone was panic buying especially the toilet rolls - which my dad disliked,
You couldn't buy anything, other than items you wouldn't need,
It was very strange for all of us, so you had to get there early and proceed.

On Thursday everyone would clap as loud as they could for the NHS,
NHS I am extremely impressed,
People were dying quickly, the NHS helped as fast as they could - it was brilliant!

No matter what, the NHS were so resilient.

While everything happened, I was immensely anxious about everything, Throughout lockdown I really want to see my family and I would have done anything.

NHS had a lack of PPE to keep a lot of people safe,
Sometimes I would still feel very unsafe.
