

Lockdown (covid-19)

We've been in lockdown for quite a while,
It's getting hard to raise a smile,
I sometimes force a rictus grin,
But everything is wearing thin.

Except myself, we've all put on some weight,
No exercise can build up an appetite.
Boris Johnson tells everyone to try and stay put,
By the end of lockdown, I realised my shoes were covered in dirt and soot.

They crowd the beaches and pack the parks,
And queue for hours outside at marks, (M&S)
Will BJ find a way to lead us back to before all this,
With only being what school I really miss.

So, on we go without a rudder,
(I really must suppress a shudder,)
Tomorrows bright! but for today,
Please stay at home – and pray
